

The Colour Matters

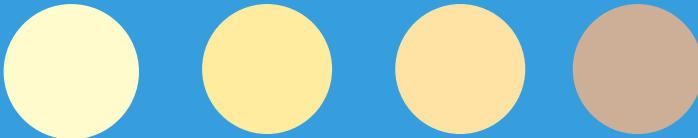

Look out for suspicious stool and unusual urine colours. They could be a sign that your baby's liver needs care.

Healthy Stools

Suspicious Stools

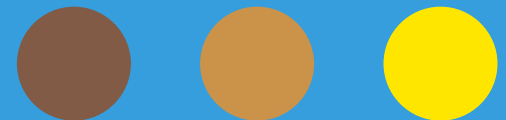

A baby's stool should be yellow or green. If it looks pale in colour, this could be a sign of liver disease.

A baby's urine should be colourless or pale yellow. If your baby has dark yellow or brown urine, this could be a sign of liver disease.

Healthy Urine

Unusual Urine

Consult your baby's doctor if suspicious stool or unusual urine colours are persistent in their diaper.